

Unit 5, Listening and Speaking, exercises 2 and 4

Mel: Hi Scott! Thanks for meeting me at the train station.

Scott: That's ok, Mel. I've got an app and it's got a map of the street art in Bristol, so let's go and see some street art! We need to catch a bus from the stop over there.

Scott: Let's see. We are on Coombe Road, we need to turn right into Fishponds Road, and it's right there, next to Sandy Lane.

Mel: There it is, over there! A large animal is wearing something pink over its eyes.

Scott: That's right! It's called 'Masked Gorilla', it's by Banksy and it's very famous. Let's take a photo.

Mel: Where's next?

Scott: We need to go back along Fishponds Road again and turn left at Robertson Road. It's about five minutes from here. Here we are. Robertson Road. Our next picture is on the corner of Foster Street.

Mel: Is that F-O-S-T-E-R? It's over there on the right.

Scott: Great. Now look for another Banksy picture; 'Cat and Dog'. This is one of the first paintings Banksy did.

Mel: Wow! It's there, next to the café! It's more animals.

Scott: Yeah! You're right. There are animals in a lot of his pictures. Another photo?

Mel: And now?

Scott: Let's go to Stapleton Road Station. There's some more good street art there.

Mel: OK!

Scott: We need to go along Robertson Road, back to Fishponds Road and turn left. Then we go past a restaurant and the station is there.

Scott: Can you see the pictures on the wall?

Mel: Yeah, they're different from the ones by Banksy. There are people in this one! You're lucky! Bristol's a very trendy place!

Scott: Yeah! I like living here. How are you doing, Mel? Are you tired?

Mel: No, I'm hungry.

Scott: There's an Indian restaurant near here or we can have spicy chicken in an African restaurant.

Mel: Spicy chicken for me, please!
